

Redmond's

GARDEN, LANDSCAPE & GIFT CENTER

4432 Old Nicholasville Road
Lexington, Ky 40515
859-272-6697

Birdscaping Your Garden

Annuals (for flowers & seeds)

Amaranthus
Bachelor Button
Calendula
California Poppy
China Aster
Coreopsis
Cosmos
Gloriosa Daisy
Grasses
Love-in-a-mist
Marigold
Dianthus
Portulaca
Sea Lavender
Sunflower
Zinnia

Perennials (for flowers & seeds)

Aster
Black-eyed Susan
Butterfly flower
Chrysanthemum
Columbine
Coreopsis
Goldenrod
Globe Thistle
Grasses
Dianthus
Purple Coneflower
Scabiosa
Showy Stonecrop
Statice
Sunflower

Shrubs

Aromatic Sumac
Bayberry
Blackberry & Raspberry
Blueberry
Boxwood
Cherry Laurel
Currant
Dogwood (Bloodtwig, Gray, Red Osier, Silky, Tatarian)
Elderberry

Holly (Chinese, Winterberry, Japanese, Possumhaw)
Honeysuckle
Japanese Barberry
Juniper
Mugo Pine
Myrtle
Rose
Serviceberry
Viburnum
Wintercreeper
Witchhazel (Chinese, Common, Japanese, Vernal)
Yew

Trees

Alder (Black, Italian)
Birch
Cherry & Plum
Crabapple
Dogwood (Flowering, Kousa, Red Osier)
Eastern Hemlock
Eastern White Pine
Green Ash
Hackberry (common & sugar)
Hawthorn
Holly (American, English, Longstalk)
Honeylocust
Hornbeam
Japanese Maple
Japanese Privet
Maple (Amur, Japanese, Red)
Mountain Ash
Oak (Pin, Red)
Serviceberry (Allegheny, Apple, Downy)
Sumac (Flameleaf, Staghorn)
Sweet Gum
Tuliptree

Vines

Bittersweet (American, Oriental)
English Ivy
Fiveleaf Akebia
Grape
Honeysuckle
Porcelain Ampelopsis
Wintercreeper

*By choosing a variety of tall, medium and low growing plants to attract birds, you can create a variety of food niches in your garden. The more food niches you provide, the more birds can live and feed in the same area.